

Alessandro Faraci

Dr Alessandro Faraci is the Business Development Manager for the ICT sector at LTN – London Technology Network. He holds a doctorate degree from Imperial College London (UK), where he was working on various medical simulators improving the real-time 3D simulation of soft tissue deformation with force feedback. His research interests include virtual reality, medical imaging, image processing, real time simulation, force feedback, human machine interface. He obtained a BSc in Applied Mathematics and MSc in Statistics from the University of Genoa (Italy) and worked in IT consultancy in Madrid (Spain) where he was managing the implementation of enterprise resource planning (ERP) systems at various corporate and government clients. In his current position he facilitates relationships between academics from top rate university departments and companies in London, East of England and South East of England to engage in high innovative technological collaboration with partners across the UK and Europe.